Dear Hiring Team,

I am applying for the Regional Retail & Inside Sales Channels Marketing Manager role at Hilti Latin America. My career has been built where marketing and sales meet, and this role is exactly that point for your Small Customer segment.

I started in software sales at IBM and moved through First Data / MasterCard in business development and Merck Millipore in the Netherlands, where I was promoted to lead a team of 8 to 12 people in customer service, credit and collections across the Spain and UK markets. In 2013 I left the corporate world to build my own path: first at Latin3, where I sold and grew the agency's client portfolio, then at 2Brains, the growth agency I founded and ran for years. Since 2020 I have also worked as an independent consultant for brands across LATAM and the Caribbean.

Along the way I did what this role asks for. For an industrial B2B client selling to government accounts, an account-based program increased leads 20% and SQLs 15%. For a real estate group, I built the follow-up system and HubSpot process and trained its sellers. For Under Armour, I led pre-sales strategy and moved a 12-day in-person process to webinars and online ordering. For a restaurant group in Cayman, I built the marketing and commercial department from scratch, hiring and leading a team of 4, and engagement grew 25%.

I have now closed that chapter. I have exited my businesses: I sold them, and my partners continued with one of them. The entrepreneurial stage taught me to sell, build markets and execute with limited resources, and I did what I set out to do. Now I want stability and a structure to grow in, and I want to bring what I learned back to a multinational like Hilti. I am choosing to specialize in one profile instead of running everything myself.

What I bring to your Small Customer segment is a tested way to connect marketing with sellers: segmenting customers, building the campaigns and content that generate demand, and turning them into follow-up and orders. I have done it with sales targets, budgets and P&L on the line, and across markets with different realities. Hilti's own Inside Sales standards and call-ride routines are something I would learn with your market teams before proposing changes.

Thank you for your time. I would welcome the chance to talk.

PROFILE

Business development, marketing and sales professional with 12+ years across LATAM and the Caribbean, in both corporate and entrepreneurial settings. I have sold, built markets and delivered strategy for brands in Apparel, Automotive, Hospitality, Spirits, Consumer Goods and startups, from IBM and First Data / MasterCard to the agencies and ventures I founded. That range lets me adapt quickly to a new business, industry or culture.

My strength is where marketing and sales meet. I define the strategy and segmentation, build the campaigns and content that generate demand, and then work shoulder to shoulder with sellers, store teams, key account managers and distributors: shaping the lead-to-close process, the follow-up routines and the tools (HubSpot, e-commerce, online ordering) that turn demand into orders.

Hands-on in digital marketing, events, business development and project management, I run data-driven campaigns end to end and deliver measurable results: leads +20% and SQLs +15% in a B2B account-based program, and +25% customer engagement for a restaurant group. I manage stakeholders, lead cross-functional teams and build lasting relationships. I now want to apply all of it inside a company like Hilti, learning its culture and growing with it.

Commercial instincts. Marketing rigor. Regional fluency.

WHERE I'VE DONE IT

CHALLENGE	WHAT I DID	RESULT
Regency Group — qualified inbound leads, but follow-up was one email every 2–3 weeks	Designed marketing + sales strategy, built the follow-up system, implemented HubSpot, trained sellers on calls, emails and proposals	More prospects; structured multi-touch follow-up
Eurocraft — consultative B2B product, two reps, government clients	Executed ABM; coordinated lead generation with reps in Cayman and Miami	Leads +20%, SQLs +15%
Under Armour — 12-day pre-sales window, one in-person meeting	Led pre-sales strategy; moved to recurring webinars and an online ordering platform	Faster purchases; orders up more efficiently
Prime Group — 6 restaurants (Cayman) with no marketing or commercial department	Built both from scratch; hired and led a team of 4; managed budget and P&L	Engagement +25%; new brand +40% traffic in 3 months
Toño's Factory — new coffee and chocolate experience launching from a blank page	Led business development and go-to-market: ICPs, brand, website and booking engine, pitch decks for hotels and tour agencies, staff training	Launched; internal team now runs marketing and B2B sales
Truck-parts distributor — LATAM workshops and resellers ordering manually	Developed a tailor-made B2B e-commerce platform linked to inventory and warehouse; defined acquisition strategy	Online ordering, including out-of-stock parts; a hire now runs it
Cochlear — qualified leads not turning into SQLs	Mapped lead → SQL → close; found the bottleneck at the concierge role	Process changes implemented through consulting sessions

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Independent Consultant · Marketing & Business Development

2020 – Present · Panama City / LATAM

- ▶ Toño's Factory (Cayman): led business development and go-to-market for a coffee and chocolate experience, from kickoff to launch: ICPs, customer journey map, brand identity, website and booking engine, pitch decks for hotels and tour agencies, staff training, PR, weekly KPI reviews and monthly strategy meetings; handed over to the internal team.
- ▶ Prime Group (6 restaurants, Cayman): built the marketing and commercial department from scratch, hiring and leading a team of 4 (marketing coordinators and the commercial team); managed budgets above USD 500K and the P&L; engagement +25%, new brand +40% traffic in 3 months.
- ▶ Litguide (co-founder, Head of Growth): led the shift of an e-learning SaaS from B2C to B2B with its own go-to-market for government and education: revenue +100% YoY, acquisition +35%.
- ▶ Regency Group: built the marketing + sales strategy and HubSpot inbound system, and trained sellers on structured follow-up by call, email and proposal.
- ▶ Eurocraft: executed an ABM strategy for a consultative B2B product sold to government clients, coordinating with reps in Cayman and Miami: leads +20%, SQLs +15%.
- ▶ Cochlear: diagnosed the lead → SQL → close path, found the bottleneck at the concierge role between Marketing and Sales, and led consulting sessions and implementation of the changes.
- ▶ Implement e-commerce: Shopify stores for footwear and apparel, and a tailor-made B2B parts platform for LATAM trucks connected to inventory and warehouse, where workshops and resellers order, including parts not in stock; defined its acquisition strategy.
- ▶ Sell and develop my own consulting business; apply customer segmentation and vertical-specific communication and content across every engagement; design Go-to-Market strategies for LATAM & Caribbean; coach and train sellers, store teams and distributors on follow-up and closing.

2Brains Marketing Agency · Founder & Growth Director

2016 – 2024 · Latin America

- ▶ Owned sales and market development for the agency, pitching and opening new client accounts across LATAM for premium consumer, FMCG, financial and B2B brands (KLM-Air France, Under Armour, Mattel, Converse, Varela Hermanos, Banesco, CIFI).
- ▶ Served Under Armour for five years, leading its regional pre-sales strategy for two of them: moved a 12-day in-person process to webinars and an online ordering platform, with Marketing, Sales and Product; trained store teams and key account managers.
- ▶ Managed budgets of USD 500K–1M across clients; accountable for forecast, spend and post-campaign evaluation.

Latin3 Digital Agency · Managing Partner & Business Development Manager

2013 – 2016 · Latin America

- ▶ Worked as the agency's salesperson, winning new clients for its portfolio, including the regional Under Armour contract (later continued with 2Brains) and PlayStation for its online game sales launch campaign.
- ▶ Created and implemented 360° strategies for regional brands, lifting sales 18% YoY; managed digital media of USD 500K–1M for clients such as Coors Light, Dell, Banco General, Varela Hermanos, PayPal and Sony.
- ▶ Built a digital loyalty program with 450,000+ daily active users; +30% app downloads, +20% social engagement.

CORPORATE BACKGROUND

Merck Millipore · Customer Service & Credit & Collections Manager

2010 – 2013 · Netherlands

- ▶ Promoted from Customer Service Agent to Manager, leading a team of 8–12 people across the Spain and UK markets and managing credit and collections processes in a multinational life-science company.

First Data / MasterCard · Product Development → Business Development Manager

2008 – 2010 · Argentina

- ▶ Joined in product development of private-label cards for non-financial retail (including CENCOSUD); a year later promoted to business development for private accounts.
- ▶ Sold card issuing solutions (Issuing) and developed new products and businesses for the CENCOSUD group's business units, as liaison between client stakeholders and internal product, systems and operations teams.

IBM Argentina / LATAM · Intern → Operations → Sales Executive, SMB Software

2006 – 2008 · Argentina

- ▶ Joined as an intern and grew through the company: operations in the Large Financial Clients cluster, supporting Tier 1 corporate clients, then into sales.
- ▶ Sold software to small and mid-sized businesses in the Argentine market and contributed to regional pipeline development.
